

ALABAMA REPORTER.

TALLADEGA, ALA.

THURSDAY, March 30, 1865.

The friends of AUGUSTUS MISSISSIPPI announce his nomination for a seat in the lower branch of our next State Legislature. Election 1st Monday in August next.

We are authorized to announce JAMES W. H. LEE, as a candidate to represent Talladeega County in the Senatorial Branch of the next State Legislature. Election 1st Monday in August next.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

A Convention will be held at Liberty Church, Talladeega Co. on the 3rd Saturday in April next, for the purpose of choosing Candidates to be supported by the people of Talladeega Co. at the ensuing election. All voters are invited to attend.

March 28th, 1865.

THE YANKEE RAID.—It is reported that the Yankees are making a raid on Selma, via Montgomery. The number of raiders is variously estimated at from one to three thousand. Gen. Hill arrived last night, his command will be here this morning. The last dispatch received from Montgomery, 11 o'clock, last night, states that the Yankees were 5 miles from that place.

We hope that the forces from below and above will be able not only to check, but capture the whole force.

To the Voters of Talladeega County.

At the earnest solicitation of many personal friends, I announce myself a candidate to represent you in the Senatorial branch of the next Legislature.

I have always lived amongst you. The character I have maintained will be your guarantee for my political integrity. To those who know me I offer no apology for placing my name before you. To those unacquainted with me I would say, my friends have chosen me, and while I am rendered wholly unfit for further military duty, I may be able to do some service for my country in an elective position.

Before the war began I did all in my power to avert its calamities from the land; but when it did come, though feeling myself guilty of no share in the horrors of the war, I did not shrink from my honest share of the duties my citizenship involved. No political opinions have changed, yet I am no partisan, and no candidate of a party.

If you think proper to sustain me, I shall be grateful for your kindness, but if you prefer another, I shall cheerfully acquiesce in your preference.

Respectfully,
JAMES W. H. LEE.
Talladeega, March 28th, 1865.

Editor Reports.

DEAR SIR: In your valuable paper of the 10th March, I find under the signature of "Citizen" that I am solicited to become a candidate for the next State Legislature. Having no disposition to enter into a political career for office, and believing as I do that no man can be a candidate for office who is not a man of more than ordinary importance, I am inclined to leave its deliberation to more experienced and wiser heads.

With high appreciation for the sentiments manifested by Citizen in his solicitation to serve the people in the Legislature, I most respectfully decline a candidacy for the present.

JESSE HARDIN.

Talladeega, March 27, 1865.

The committee in aid of supplies to the indigent families of soldiers in Talladeega County, met in the Court House, Col. Benjamin Averitt in the Chair to consider on the 14th inst. the transportation of corn to the 3d of 4.

The following gentlemen agreed to furnish a good mule, at valuation to make up teams, viz: B. Averitt, F. M. Thompson, A. Cunningham, Isaac Stone, J. N. Savory, George P. Phelan, W. J. Hendrick, George A. Cogg and John L. Hays.

On motion of F. M. Thompson it was resolved to invest a sum, not exceeding $15,000, in cotton cards and the purchase of cotton to distribute to the most needy. The committee was authorized to make the purchase. Major John Sawyer, R. M. Henderson, James Barker, and Jas. W. McMillan, were requested to act as a committee of property.

I Don't care if I Do.

In other times, before the Maine laws were invented, Wing kept the hotel at Middle Granville, and from his well stocked bar furnished accommodations to the tourist here. To was a good land, and last night he died. Fish the village painter, was elected in the same way.

One day they were sitting by themselves in the bar room. Wing was behind the counter, waiting for the next customer, while Fish was lounging before the fire with a sherry look, casting a sheep's eye occasionally at Wing's decanters, and wishing devoutly that some body would come from the South, only to go to Brandon.

A traveller from the South, only to go to Brandon, stopped in to inquire the distance to the next town? Going into the counter, he said:

"Can you tell me, sir, how far it is to Brandon?"

"Brandy!" says the ready landlord, jumping up, "yes, sir, I have room," at the same time handing down a decanter of superior liquor.

"You misunderstand me," says the stranger, "I asked how far it is to Brandon?"

"They call it pretty good brandy," says Wing, "will you take sugar in it?"

"No, no," says the traveller, "I don't wish to be spoke for the bowl and the sugar."

The despairing traveller turned to Fish, and said, "seems to be dead, but you tell me how far it is to Brandon?"

"Thank you," said Fish, "I don't care if I do take sugar with you!"

The stranger treated and fled.

MILITARY ORDERS.

MACON, GA., March 16, 1865.

The following orders have been received from "Headquarters Military Division of the West."

HEADQUARTERS CONFEDERATE ARMIES.

February 9, 1865.

GENERAL ORDER No. 1.

In obedience to General Orders No. 1, Adjutant and Inspector General's Office, 6th February, 1865, command of the military forces of the Confederate States, I hereby order that the military responsibilities of the position, and hereby invoking the aid of Almighty God, I rely for success upon the courage and patriotism and firmness of the people. I am confident that their united efforts, under the blessing of Heaven, will secure the triumph of the Confederate States.

The headquarters of this army, to which special reports and communications must be addressed for the present, will be with the army of Northern Virginia.

Stated regular returns and reports from each army and department, will be forwarded as heretofore to the office of the adjutant and inspector general.

R. E. LEE, General.

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF CONFEDERATE STATES.

February 11, 1865.

GENERAL ORDER No. 2.

In entering upon the campaign now about to be undertaken by the Confederate army, I am confident that the soldiers who have so long and nobly borne the hardships and dangers of war, require no exhortation to respond to the calls of honor and duty.

With the liberty transmitted to them by their forefathers, they have inherited the right to defend it.

There is now no choice between war and abject submission before them. Such a proposal to brave men, with arms in their hands, can have but one answer.

They cannot brave judgment for peace, nor the right of self-government for life or property.

Justice to them requires the sternest counteraction to those who have abandoned their country in the hour of peril.

The last opportunity is now afforded them to wipe out their disgrace and escape punishment for their crimes.

By authority of the President of the Confederate States, a pardon is granted to all deserters and men who have abandoned their country, who shall return to the ranks of the Confederate army, before the publication of this order at the headquarters of the department in which they may be.

Those who have deserted and taken a service with the enemy, or who have deserted after having been once pardoned, shall be considered as deserters, and shall be punished as such.

Those who have deserted and taken a service with the enemy, or who have deserted after having been once pardoned, shall be considered as deserters, and shall be punished as such.

Those who have deserted and taken a service with the enemy, or who have deserted after having been once pardoned, shall be considered as deserters, and shall be punished as such.

NEW DAILY PAPER IN RICHMOND.

PROSPECTUS.

The undersigned propose to publish a daily paper, under the title of "THE RICHMOND HERALD," on or about the 10th of June next.

It will be entirely independent in politics, but will nevertheless accord to the administration a just support in all measures which it deems to be for the good of the country.

A pre-eminence of each act as will be given to the public, and we will be course consistent with the independent character under which the paper is to be managed.

In the matter of General News it will be found to keep pace with the leading journals of the day, while it will have added to it the matter of political intelligence, and as far as the matter of local news, no paper in the Confederacy can boast of.

Editorials from the pen of one of the ablest literary writers in this or any other country will be presented in each number.

For reasons not now proper to be mentioned, we forbear to give the names of those who shall compose the regular editorial staff, but we flatter ourselves when they shall appear they will be found to constitute such an array of talent as can be secured in this country.

The well known character of the individual whose name appears below, as a biographical reporter, furnishes, we presume, a guarantee that all testicles to important political speeches and debates, whether in legislative assemblies or out of them, the "HERALD" will present as full and as accurate a record as any paper in the Confederacy.

The farming interests will be faithfully indicated, and care taken to disseminate the most reliable intelligence in regard to the welfare of that great element of national wealth and power.
